Description

Two early C19th George IV period 'en suite' rosewood box 'desk-tidys' attributed to Gillows of Lancaster. Fine quality duo of rosewood desk-top boxes each with twin hinged folding lids, turned carrying handles and fitted a drawer. The revealed interiors fitted with pen-trays and dished scoops for stationary accessories. The largest box with a brass-mounted turned carrying handle and a single full length end frieze drawer with a turned knob pull handle. The smaller with a similar bobbin-turned handle, lateral frieze drawer with a brass 'axe-head' pull handle and decorated with turned bobbin-style 'split-reel mouldings' to the edges of top and base. The quality, grade of timber and designs attributable to the renowned cabinet-making firm of Gillows of Lancaster and London. Both boxes in excellent original condition with rich colour and patina to the figured rosewood. Practical and decorative desk-top period accessories for a desk or library table.
