Description

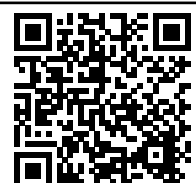

Circa 1900-1920. One of the best quality three tier glass drop ceiling lights we've had for many years. It has all of the original crystal glass drops and a glass ball underneath, and it measures 47cm in length from the hook linking the three chains to the base of the ball. The width of the top ring of drops is 26cm in diameter. Including the three raised brass arms at the top, the diameter is 32cm. The top row of drops are held in place by unusual shaped crystal drops - see photo 3. The frame and original chains are brass, and the whole item weighs approximately 3.7kgs. Postage and packing within the UK mainland only is included in the price and for outside areas or abroad please contact us for a delivery quote. Collection can be arranged by appointment from SW London, or the Esher area of Surrey.
