Description

A very classy 1930's Art Deco Ashtray / Pin tray in the form of a tiger/panther drinking from a pool. The figure itself is made from cold painted spelter and has been very skillfully crafted, the body contours give a real sense of movement and muscle tone. An unsigned piece and although originally intended as a smoking accessory there are no signs of use within the tray area and to that end would be perfect as a desk piece, either a pin tray, paper weight or just an attractive ornament. The base is made from alabaster. The whole piece is in good vintage condition with no damage to note. FREE UK DELIVERY
