Description

This quality, very large extending dining table in solid mahogany, Circa 1870. With oblong shaped top with thumb moulded edge, over a plain frieze with lower lipped edge. Raised on carved well proportioned cabriole legs, on equally well proportioned brass castors. The table extends by way of a Joseph Fitter "Patent" double screw mechanism on sliding telescopic stretchers, with removable winding handle. Triple extending leaves and the table can be set with either one, two or all three leaves. A handsome, very well made table, in good condition overall and very much ready for use. Suitable for comfortably 14 people, 2 on either end and 5 along each side. Delivery is included in the price, and is a to the front door service. This is an extremely heavy table and requires 3 to 4 people to lift through single door doorways. Please contact us prior to purchase to discuss putting this table into your dining room, as we will need to plan it out and make arrangements for sufficient people to assist. Dimensions: This table measures approximately 73.5 cm (29") tall, 308 cm (121") long fully extended, 137.5 cm (54") wide. The leaves measure 54.5 cm (21.5") each. Condition: Pleas...
