Description

This is a stunning exhibition quality antique Victorian oak sideboard, decorated with pollard / burr oak panels, with a breakfront design, comprising four doors, circa 1860, in excellent original condition. The Victorian oak sideboard comprises a breakfront top with a moulded underside, decorated with mirror matched quarter veneers. The sideboard frame features canted corners, finished with reeded columns. Between the central pedestals, at the top, is a single, central drawer with an oval pollard oak moulded panel front, and a moulded frieze handle along the bottom. The drawers are mahogany lined, with hand dovetail construction and boasts a quarter beaded interior (a sign of quality). Below, are four moulded panel cupboard doors decorated with fine pollard / burr oak. The left-hand, centre-right and right-hand doors all retain their original working locks, with one key which operates the left-hand and right-hand doors, and another key which operates the centre-right door. The centre-left door retains its original brass sliding bolt latches. The pedestal doors open to reveal cupboards, with the left-hand cupboard comprising a single drawer, above two pull-out ...
