Description

A fine quality William IV mahogany extending dining table C1835. This table is constructed from high quality mahogany and it retains three original leaves, clips and unusual pierced wheel castors. It's incredibly heavy and doesn't suffer from the sag that can be an issue with four leg extending tables of this size. It may well have been made by Gillows as it has a number of features associated with their imperial dining tables albeit without the drop leaf ends. Height to underside of frame 63cm.
