Description

Rare, unusual and large 18th century Chinese cart/carriage door, c1790. The door has a real decorative appeal and presence standing at 4 ft tall. There is a large central painted panel depicting traditional Chinese figures, metal work embellishments including large rivets/studs, ring handle and staples. The wood has taken on beautiful colour/patina following years of use and handling. It would display well hung on a wall or standing on the floor and would work in a modern or traditional setting. Overall condition is very good given its age with only minor surface wear/fading to the paint work and small surface cracks in the wood. There are gaps to indicate a very few rivets are missing, all exactly as you would expect given its age and use. Please refer to the detailed photographs and feel free to contact me if you would like to view the item or have any questions. Price includes FREE UK delivery. Please contact me regarding international shipping. Size: 122cm tall x 89cm wide x 4cm deep.
