Description

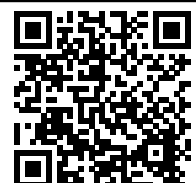

Here is a fine quality antique English Regency side table, constructed in solid mahogany, with boxwood and ebony inlay, circa 1820, displaying a lovely rich colour, in excellent original condition. The Regency side table boasts an over sailed top with boxwood & ebony string inlay to the perimeter with a moulded edge. Below, the single frieze drawer retains the original brass label inside, which reads: "Druce & Co. – Upholsterers & Cabinet Makers – Baker Street, London – From Second Hand Department". The fruitwood lined drawer is constructed with hand dovetail joints and runs smoothly, closing flush to the frame. The drawer front is decorated with boxwood and ebony inlay, featuring cock-beading and retains the original oval brass ribbed handle and back plate. The Regency side table is raised on four straight tapering block legs; the frame and legs are decorated with further boxwood and ebony inlay. The Regency side table retains the original top and backboard to the rear; the frame has been constructed in the traditional joined manner for that period. This Regency side table boasts a lovely rich mahogany colour. The table has been cleaned and French polished, by h...
