Description

This is a splendid antique Victorian silver-plated Doric column table lamp now converted to electricity, late 19th Century in date. This opulent antique table lamp features a Doric Capital above a striking tapering fluted cylinder shaft, and it stands on a beautiful acanthus leaf base with a decorative cut of pyramid pedestal on scroll feet. Add an element of Classical style to your home with this exquisite antique silver-plated table lamp. Condition: In excellent working condition having been beautifully cleaned and rewired, please see photos for confirmation. Dimensions in cm: Height 56 x Width 18 x Depth 18 Dimensions in inches: Height 1 foot, 10 inches x Width 7 inches x Depth 7 inches A Doric column has a very plain, straightforward design, much more simple than the later Ionic and Corinthian column styles. A Doric column is also thicker and heavier than an Ionic or Corinthian column. For this reason, the Doric column is sometimes associated with strength and masculinity. Believing that Doric columns could bear the most weight, ancient builders often used them for the lowest level of multi-story buildings, reserving the more slender Ionic and Corinthian...
