Description

For your consideration is this lovely Art Deco ladies wrist watch which looks great for both evening and day dress. Made by the US watchmakers company Elgin the serial number dates it to 1935, so 87 years old. The movement is 15 jewel manual wind movement, a fine classic Calibre movement running well. Movement fully serviced July 2022, ultra sonically cleaned & Oiled and is running strongly and keeping good time. A new main string and strap have been added in this service. The Case is silver nickel in colour with chased engineering around the sides of the case as decoration, great condition considering it's age. A white dial with black Deco numerals sets this watch off beautifully, with royal blue enamel hands. The overall condition of this watch is above average, all totally original and sourced in the US. All of our watches are sent out in a complimentary gift box with FREE UK mainland delivery. If you would like to see a short 15 second video of the watch please email us.
