Description

William Mellor British, (1851-1931) Rydal Lake, Westmorland Oil on canvas, signed & further inscribed verso
Image size: 23.5 inches x 35.5 inches Size including frame: 34.25 inches x 46.25 inches A beautiful Lakeland landscape painting of Rydal Water, Westmorland by William Mellor. A herd of cattle can be seen watering at the lakeside in front of the dramatic mountainous backdrop of the Lakeland Fells. William Mellor was a landscape painter who was born in Barnsley, Yorkshire in 1851, the son of Joseph Mellor, an artist and Mary Mellor. Initially, he was employed as a loom turner in the weaving industry before becoming a professional artist. He would have received tuition from his father who clearly influenced his style and subject matter. In 1876, he married Mary Elizabeth Watson and by 1881 had established himself as a successful landscape painter. Two of his sons Everett Watson Mellor (1878-1965) and Leonard Mellor (b.1891) also became artists. The family lived in Barwick Street, Scarborough before moving to Sefton Street, North Meols. However, by 1911, they had moved to Dragon Road, Harrogate where Mellor later died in 1931. Mellor worked around his home county ca...
