Description

For those gentlemen out there who seek a stylish watch which reflects the Art Deco styling and also offers quality then look no further this watch maybe for you. Made by the watchmakers Kollmar & Jourdan, this watch has a good sized square dial with chrome casing and stainless steel backing and dates to around 1935, the back is free from engravings and is marked "KJ on arrow" = Kollmar & Jourdan, Pforzheim. Runs on a 17 jewels movement with manual winding, having been recently serviced by an horologist July 2022 the watch runs smoothly and keeps good time . Condition is way above average with minimal signs of any wear, no dents, no scratches. The dial is particularly attractive with rose gold Arabic numerals against an enamel black background and brushed steel face. Sub dial for seconds at 6 o'clock, this watch is in remarkable condition for it's age, 90 odd years and no scratching to the glass crystal. A good sized dial for modern day use, ideal for day wear and for the dapper gentleman out there. A new leather strap has been added, sent in a presentation box. FREE UK DELIVERY. Size of watch without crown and lugs approx : 26 x 26 mm.
