Description

This beautiful bureau-bookcase is one of the most attractive pieces of furniture I have ever seen. Made almost certainly as an apprentice piece, it is perfectly proportioned and in totally original condition. Constructed throughout of finest quality english oak, it retains its original french-polished finish and has a wonderful rich patina. It has high quality brass handles and escutcheons. The three gaduated drawers to the bureau have hand cut dovetails, as have the drawers to the inner. There are two pull out slides to support the fall and carved canted corners to the bookcase. It stands on four shaped bracket feet. This is a rare and unusual piece of furniture that whilst giving immense pleasure to enjoy, will undoubtedly prove to be a very solid investment for the future.
