Description

This is a striking dining table with a very impressive solid elm top. The top is made of three planks of very thick elm which have the most amazing figuring to it. The colour is nice and even across the whole table. The base is beech and made in a great country style which lifts the top perfectly. Hard to age accurately but to me it looks early 20th century. Condition overall is very good and ideal as a dining table to sit 6-8 people. If you don't use this as a dining table then it would also make a great desk or console table.
