Description

Late C18th / early C19th George III period circular mahogany fold-down 'dumb-waiter'. Two graduated and revolving circular tiers with folding drop-flap 'rule-jointed' sides, each held in position with a swivelling shaped bar support beneath. Each tier with a simple 'thumb-moulded' profile edge. The vase turned central column onto a swept and reeded tripod base, each with square brass box-toe castors. In excellent original condition with a rich consistent colour and patina. A useful folding table of unusual scale and proportions with a multitude of practical uses for serving or display.
