Description

A smart and interesting antique occasional table in mahogany. This dates from around the 1880-1890 period. It is of lovely quality, with a beautifully shaped octagonal top. It sits on turned and fluted legs, which terminate in original brass casters. This has four useful pull down shelves on the lower sides, with brass supports. There is also a large and flat X stretcher connecting the base. This is in great condition throughout, all is structurally sound and we have just had this re-polished.
