Description

An English Porcelain Tray c.1830 very finely painted with a view of Frogmore House, Windsor. Frogmore House is a 17th-century English country house owned by the Crown Estate. It is a historic Grade I listed building. The house is located on the Frogmore estate, which is situated within the grounds of the Home Park in Windsor, Berkshire. This form of tray has been attributed to several factories such as Coalport and Minton. The fine quality of the painting has also been attributed with to workshops of Doe & Roger and also Sparks of Worcester. Condition: A very small chip to the footrim.
