Description

A beautiful set of eight 19th century burr elm and ash chairs with attractive cabriole legs to front. . Heavy and of excellent quality, all joints tight. Made in the traditional way by hand in around 1890. . A rare true set with each chair of same size and proportion. The substantial saddle seats made of very well figured burr elm. . Waxed finish which is easy to maintain and with a wonderfully warm colour and nicely polished throughout. Very comfortable with a gentle rake to the backs. A few dings and a couple of small professional restorations, very hard to find and not affecting structure, as is entirely right and usual for antique chairs. . . Dimensions are: . 21 inches wide, 22 inches deep and 37 inches high. . Floor to seat is 18 inches. . For metric please multiply by 2.5
