Description

This is a pretty little silver snuff or trinket box made by Horton and Allday, Birmingham, in 1889. Of oval form and with pie-crust edging to both lid and base the interior is lightly gilded. It has swirling, fluted, repousse decoration to the lid and helical styling to the base giving an overall impression of dynamism and tactility. The central cartouche is blank. There are no engraved personal initials or monograms and there never have been. The long hinge is robust and the box closes well. Hallmarks to the base are clear. In all, this is a desirable, collectable piece, in very good antique condition, with no wear holes, other damage or repairs.
Length: 9cm (3.6 inches) Width: 4.5cm (1.75 inches) Height: 3.2cm (1.3 inches) Weight: 50 grams.
