Description

A splendid example of a Regency era cut lead crystal water jug c1820. The bulbous body is cut with stars within a diamond outline below wide slice cuts on the shoulder. This leads to the fine horizontal step cutting around the neck which changes angle under the spout. The rim is triangle cut. The base is star cut. The top of the sturdy handle has a stepped thumb plinth, in three levels, very unusual but practical. The condition is superb, no nicks or damage.
