Description

Georgian oak pot board dresser base This Georgian oak pot board dresser base was made circa 1820. It has a double depth drawer each end, that look to be 2 drawers on the fronts and a single drawer between them above the arch frieze. The drawers all with the matching plate brass backplates and swing handles. This dresser is a good width and not too deep and so makes a brilliant piece of furniture to fit in many places around your home. As it is a country piece, you have the charm of the undulating top, that shows its 200 years of life. The pot board running along the base is joined by the finely turned front legs. Imagine this oak dresser base that is full of rustic charm but also gives you plenty of storage and display space. It is bound to give you much pleasure and joy as it gets admired by your family and friends. 167cms wide 66ins 41cms deep 16ins 88cms high 34 1/2ins All dimensions are approximate, whilst we take as much care as possible, we can be marginally out.
