Description

This is an original Art Deco book table, English circa 1930 offered for your consideration. A high end, rare table that not only offers the best quality in both timbers and craftsmanship but is extremely functional too. Each of the four sides of the table offers an open sectional area for books or anything of your choice to display and store. This table really is an absolute delight to look at and one surely not to get bored of. It's larger than a regular table so would work well centered as used as a focal point. All veneered in a lusciously grained Burl Maple, a true mid tone blonde in colouring that will integrate so easily with both modern and period settings. All in top condition, having newly professionally restored. Images taken in natural daylight. Offered with FREE UK mainland delivery
