Description

A stunning Art Deco liqueur decanter in clear glass with a solid silver (continental 800 silver) stamped 800. Complete with the six original shot glasses. The decanter and one of the glasses retaining the original price labels on the underside. Dating to 1930's it remains in excellent undamaged condition. The decanter measures 3 1/2" in diameter x 9 1/4" tall to top of stopper; each glass having a base diameter measuring 1 3/4" x 2 1/4" tall. The Moser Glass Company was founded by Ludwig Moser in 1857 in Czechoslovakia and was focused on creating high-quality, engraved glass products. In 1873, Moser received a medal at the Vienna International Exhibition, which led to an increased interest in his products. In 1893, Moser expanded his company to create a full-service glassworks business that employed over 400 people. By 1904, Moser was hired to create glassware for the Austrian Imperial Court. His continued affiliation with various royal courts inspired the company to create the slogan King of Glass, Glass of Kings. Item: 43400 FREE Worldwide Registered Airmail Directly From the UK
