Description

Pair of Antique oak hanging cabinets This Pair of Antique oak hanging cabinets were made in the 19thc. formerly part of a plate rack from a period dresser. They were cleverly adapted using the cupboards and other parts of a redundant plate rack. Quite often the racks were surplus, due to height or the racks not being practical in the home. Therefore, skilled cabinetmakers use these to make use of the wonderful cupboards to each side. Each cabinet has a shaped and inlaid door, each opening to reveal a shelf (one with a pair of spice drawers.) Imagine how useful and attractive this will be hanging in your home. 36cms wide across cornice 14ins 24.5cms deep 9 3/4ins 71.5cms high 28ins All Measurements are approximate, whilst we take care in measuring there may at times be a very slight difference.
