Description

A 19th century Chinese folding low table on stand in oriental hardwood with a reversible circular top. Both top and stand are intricately carved with cherry blossom and leaves, even the top of the folding base that is covered by the circular top is carved as is every leg. It is beautifully finished hence the top can be used either way up, with up standing gallery in first few images and with fretted apron in images 10, A really useful table that can be used as a coffee table, tray on stand or occasional table and very easy to store. Both decorative and practical!
