Description

A handsome example of mid 19th Century tea-table ware. This is a fine cut glass celery vase, with a flared rim and wrythen and slice cutting to the body. There is a flattened ball knob, bladed collar and foot support to the stem. The base is cut with a multi point star. Celery vases are making quite a comeback as vintage tableware continues in its popularity. These particular items lend themselves to the modern table for alternative uses, such as flowers etc. and are attractive and practical items. Dimensions below.
