Description

A lovely antique Victorian mahogany side cabinet, this was made in England, it dates from around the 1860-1880 period. It is very well made and is a useful size, perfect for use as a bedside cabinet or in various places around the home. The panelled door has a brass escutcheon and handle, this sits on bun feet and has a raised gallery around the top edge. We have recently had this re-polished, there are various small marks and indentations underneath the polish commensurate for age. Overall this is in lovely condition with a beautiful patina.
