Description

This is a delightful pair of silver toast racks, made by Deakin and Francis, and assayed in Birmingham in 1934. With shield-shaped handles, these are beautifully proportioned, having Art Deco motifs in the centre of all four stretchers. They are raised on pretty little splayed feet. Of excellent quality, these are made from a good gauge silver and weigh just under 120 grams. Both carry identical hallmarks, which are crisp and clear. In my opinion they have had little or no use and, with absolutely no damage or repairs, they are in excellent antique condition. [Please note that there are some reflections in the photographs.]
Length: 6.6 cm (2.6 inches) Width: 5.3 cm (2.1 inches) Height: 6.6 cm (2.6 inches) Total Weight: 118 grams.
