Description

A fine mid 19th century giltwood pedestal in the Baroque style, with a circular green marble insert over a reeded edge and with three massive cabriole supports with scrolled tops, harebells to the upper sections over acanthus leaves below and with a scrolled foot, with richly carved scrolling leaves between each support, and with an underhanging central feature carved with leaves and a pineapple terminal. Italian circa 1840. Condition: Overall very good, the pedestal is solid and robust with no structural issues. The gilding has wear that is commensurate with the age of the piece. The marble has been broken and repaired.
