Description

A really stunning and rare Regency mahogany wine cooler. It has a crossbanded top and all sides, including the back are cross banded (and beautifully mitred) with astragal moulding decoration. The sides are fluted and continue down to elegant turned legs terminating in little brass casters. The workmanship is superb. Inside are the original divisions for the bottles (which had a bigger circumference than today's bottles) and the original lining paper. Tiny slivers have been inserted to repair old shrinkage but these genuine repairs detract in no way.
