Description

A very elegant 19th century English satinwood "kidney" shape desk or dressing table with its original hand painted decoration and leather top, circa 1880. The kidney shape gives this a much lighter feel than a typical oblong piece, the curved sides being less harsh but still offers you generous drawer space. Well proportioned and there is a sensible knee-hole area for sitting at if you are looking for a daily desk or dressing table (sometimes the knee-hole area is just too tight to sit at comfortably). The original painted garlands to the drawer fronts are all in good condition, the scenes to the sides are a little more worn but still very much there and showing good detail. This desk or dressing table can free stand if required, being finished to the rear too. I have shown (as example only) a dressing table mirror to give you an idea of how you could use it, or you could use a wall mirror instead. Great piece of furniture, any queries don't hesitate to get in touch. Measuring: 32 inches or 81.5 cm high 48 inches or 122 cm wide 21 3/4 inches or 55 cm deep in the middle 25 inches or 63.5 cm knee-hole height 18 inches or 46 cm knee-hole width
