Description

A light oak box top pedestal desk that is about 100 years old or perhaps just a little short of that. This came as a part exchange against another desk and is unrestored, hence the price. It is most unusual and we can say it is unlikely to be repeated in a hurry. There is an open shelf section for files on the left of the knee-hole and the usual array of drawers to the right, however on the rear is a really useful storage area. The green top is original and in pretty good condition and the whole desk is most usable, all be it not pristine. If width is a problem for someone this could be perfect as it has depth to be workable but not too wide. Available for only £185 as it is this box top desk is a very substantial item for the money. Pictures are taken in our store so please excuse the backgrounds.
