Description

Unusual and interesting collection of early 20th century Dentist pieces, c1920. The collection comprises a bronze and wood sign 'Wilson and Co Dentists', 2 trays of human teeth samples and 7 denture moulds. I assume the teeth were either a teaching aid or some form of salesmen's sample? There are 80 teeth on each sheet. They are marked on the front 'Reliance Diatorics Made in England' and on the reverse 'Diatoric Teeth Made in England'. Overall condition is good in line with age and use. The teeth samples look complete and the sign just has very minor surface wear. Some of the denture moulds have areas of corrosion/markings but all very minor. Please refer to the detailed photographs and feel free to contact me if you would like to view the item or have any questions. Price includes FREE UK delivery.
