Description

An impressive antique Victorian longuard chain. The piece is both a much longer and much heavier longuard than you'd normally find. Unusually, there is no clasp on this piece; it's an unbroken circle of link which can't be opened. Each link on the belcher style chain is slightly faceted, allowing light to reflect; an incredible craftsmanship that simply can't be found in more modern pieces. By virtue of its length, this can be worn as a two or three strand necklace. There are no hallmarks but both the chain and the clip test as 9k gold. Weight: 52.8 grams. Length: 60 inches, or 152.4cm. Circa: 1890.
