Description

This antique ruby and diamond ring is, quite frankly, stunning. The bright, pinkish red ruby is claw set in yellow gold within a surround of fourteen high white, bright and clean old cut diamonds in a coronet setting. The head of the ring sits nice and low to the finger, on a fine 18k yellow gold shank which elegantly splits at the shoulders. Accompanied by an independent jewellery report by IGR (#30307459). Cut - Oval cut ruby and old mine cut diamonds. Colour - Diamonds are F to G. Clarity - The ruby is included (as is to be expected of rubies). The diamonds are SI1 to SI2; all are clean to the naked eye. Carat - The ruby is approximately 1.51 carat, with approximately 0.75 carat of diamonds. Circa - 1900. Size - Q (UK) or 8 (US). Complimentary sizing is available, can go up or down. Measurements - The head of the ring is 14.4 x 12.15mm and sits 5mm from the finger. Metal - 18k gold. Tested.
