Description

This fabulous antique wall light which is in the form of a Wyvern or Gothic style dragon is an impressive size, dates from the early 20th century and most likely would have been a bespoke piece for a grand room like a theatre or hotel. This painted metal dragon sculpture has very nice detail such as scales, claw feet, a pair of large wings, a beautiful dark bronze colour and is a well made piece. The legs and feet have holes through where the dragon was mounted on a beam to face outwards, the top of the body unscrews to gain access to electrical wiring which connects through the dragon to the mouth which holds a lightbulb. An unusual antique piece that is highly decorative so looks stunning just on it's own as a sculpture. Ideal for a bar, hotel, tattoo parlour, hairdressers, prop or would look stunning in the right home environment. Material: Metal. Origin: France. Date: Early 20th century - c1920. Dimensions: Length (nose to feet): 47 cm (18 1/2"). Wingspan: 50 cm (20"). Height: 30 cm (12") approx. Weight: 4.196 kg. Condition: Good antique condition with signs of use in keeping with age. Some wear, small chips to painted finish and aged paint. Please see pictu...
