Description

Dating from the 19th century, this hexagon shaped oriental style garden seat is painted with flowers and trailing leaves on a turquoise ground. The top has leaf shaped piercing, the hexagon tapering column terminates with a stepped base. There is a fine hairline crack to the underside of the base. This is minor, cannot easily be seen and in no way affects the appearance or stability of this lovely seat. This most attractive, traditional antique garden seat would be a decorative addition to a conservatory, garden room or garden. c. 1880 Diameter: 10.5" 27 cm Height: 19.25" 49 cm
