Description

For your consideration is very rare and totally authentic Art Deco period freestanding advertising plaque. Originating from France this advertising stand was for a company called 'Callia' which was for hair straightening/waving products. Features two side profiles in relief in typical 1920's hair styles on a flat triangular backing which is set into a stepped art deco base. Made from composite plaster and in great condition with no breaks and good maintained colouring. This piece would be great for any ladies dressing table as a back drop, rare to find and doubly so for the condition. Free UK mainland delivery
