Description

A comfortable but decorative rocking chair. We bring to you this impressive example of an original Edwardian (circa 1900) solid Walnut low rocking chair ideal as a rocking nursing chair for rocking a baby to sleep. The chair features spectacular burl Walnut inlay to the back and the sides of the rocking base which is embellished with carvings and is complete with reeded accents throughout the back of the chair. This quality chair descends to a typical Edwardian dual coil-sprung rocking base incorporating finely turned stretcher rails. The chair features its original well maintained French polished finish with patina which we have just cleaned and waxed to preserve, protect the finish and give a natural sheen. This unusually petite rocking chair will not be too intrusive in any home and is ideally suited to a period dining room, bedroom, hallway or as fireside chair in any period themed property. This item is structurally solid with a perfectly working rocking mechanism, in good order with no loose joints. The material and inner padding seems to be in good condition and the chair has come from a smoke-free environment and is comfortable. The chair has been re-upholstere...
