Description

A larger pair of champagne glasses in the sought after hollow stem design. This pair date from the late 19th Century and have slice cut hollow stems with petal detailing to the underside of the bowl. The hollow stem extends to the foot, which has a polished pontil mark to the underside. The glasses have a very slight size variant, which is usual for hand blown and cut glass. A great gift idea for that special occasion. Apart from champagne, the glasses would serve well for cocktails. Dimensions below.
