Description

Fist impressions of this clock maybe deceptive. It is not the more frequently seen American lightweight version with the relatively cheap movement. It is a 19th century robust clock c1845 with a heavy thick plate fusee movement and long heavy pendulum. It has a convex dial in excellent condition and a convex glass. The rosewood case is beautifully inlaid with brass. It is in good condition and full working order - cleaned and lubricated. We accept payment by bank transfer or Paypal
