Description

These very fine superior quality models are most intricately hand built and depict two 18th century large sailing ships. One a four mast, the other a five. They have been beautifully hand built to scale and hand painted. They are fully rigged without sails and both have been constructed inside a fine late 19th century slightly green glass bottle. They are both displayed to great advantage on two secure hand made oak and brass display stands. These models are most rare as a pair and would be a must for a serious collector or most pleasing for their decorative appeal in your home. They are both in superb condition, English, circa 1910 Height 14.5cm x width 32cm x depth 9.5cm including the stands.
