Description

Here is a large metal flask with a cork stopper decorated all over with flowers and patterns in rich colours against a black background, executed in an attractive naive style. The bottle is made from metal sheets beaten together, which form a watertight bond. The bottle stands 34cm tall with its wooden stopper in, and is 24cm wide and 17cm deep. As displayed in the photographs, the bottle is very much in a 'used' condition with the knocks and scrapes of well over a hundred years of love and wear, but personally I think this adds to its charm. I am also selling a smaller bottle (please see separate listing), so should you wish to purchase both, I would definitely look to give a discount for the pair. I offer free postage to the UK and can help organise quotes for shipping abroad. Please don't hesitate to get in touch if I can offer any further information of photographs.
