Description

A beautiful water landscape with clear, sensitive, and harmonious nuances of colour. The barges are typically French - compare them to those in Sisley's "Barges at Billancourt" - and the painting is certainly French in origin. Dating from the 1940s and unsigned, it has been suggested that it may be an early work by Jacques Bouyssou, a French expressionist artist born in 1926 near Honfleur in Normandy. Bouyssou studied architecture at the Ecole des Beaux Arts de Troyes, and drawing with the sculptor Janin. When he moved to Paris to study at the Academie de la Grand Chaumiere in the studio of Othon-Friesz, he discovered his love for painting. He was tutored by Friesz, and quickly became a master of beach and port scenes of Normandy. Measuring 38 x 46 cm for the canvas, the overall framed size of the artwork is 49 x 57 cm.
