Description

This is just a stunning example of an early 18thc copper coffee pot....it has an attractive flared base , early shaped hinge and the spout is six sided....the joints are the early "castellated" form and the handle is shaped from turned fruitwood....and if that is not enough quality it has an acorn shaped finial and wonderful turning marks from the lathe underneath (see picture)....in excellent condition and a real collectors piece...! English. C1730-40.
