Description

For your consideration is this fabulous Art Deco perfume bottle, intricately detailed facet-cut glass with acid mat relief panels in a clear glass, manufactured by Curt Schlevogt, who established his own glass company in 1928 and later became - together with Heinrich Hoffman - the main producer of art crystal: delicate crystal figures, small bottles and vases that were created using moulds. This bottle a classic Art Deco, from Bohemia, circa 1930 and in great condition. Bio Curt's son, Henry Günther Schlevogt, who also was Hoffman's son-in-law, took over his father's firm in 1934 and soon introduced the first collection of pressed glass, which he called "Ingrid" after his 4-year-old daughter, and which was displayed at the spring fair in Leipzig in 1934. World War II and the nationalisation of Germany in 1945 signalled the end of Schlevogt's business. FREE UK MAINLAND DELIVERY
