Description

This is an antique button back sofa. An English, leather over walnut 2-seater club lounge settee, dating to the Edwardian period, circa 1910. Beautifully patinated sofa with traditional gentleman's club appeal. Displays a desirable aged patina in good original order. Warm tan hues radiate from the distinctive antique leather. Quality walnut stocks present deep caramel hues. Striking winged back rest finished with superb, deep buttons in taut order. Traditionally stuffed throughout with inviting depth to the cushioning. Lovingly used, showing small historic repairs and light signs of weathering. Comfortably arranged as a generous two seater, with ample shoulder width. Broad, rolled arms sit at a height of 58.5cm (23"), the seat height set at a comfortable 48cm (19"). Additional button detail decorates the front apron, with flashes of press stud trim to corners. Front cabriole legs carved at the knee with scrolled leaf decor. Oblique square section rear legs gently splay outward. This is a delightful antique button back sofa, graced with a century of patination to the quality leather. A treat for the living room or study, with an air of gentleman's club lounge to the profile ...
