Description

This is a fine quality antique English Edwardian set of four mahogany nest of tables, in the Regency style, with good proportions, constructed from solid mahogany, with decorative inlaid tops, circa 1910, in excellent original condition. The tops are decorated with fine diamond boxwood and ebonised inlay. The table-tops boast a fantastic grain configuration and colour to the tops, which also feature low galleries. The mahogany nest of tables is supported by refined ring turned "bamboo" style legs, which in turn are united by an elegant bow shaped cross-stretchers (for additional strength), and terminate on elegant refined splayed feet. The mahogany nest of tables displays superb craftsmanship, with each of the tables slides comfortably into each other, protected by green baize strips on the undersides of the table. The mahogany nest of tables boasts a beautiful deep rich patina, which has been generated by the years of cleaning and care they have received. This truly is a very beautiful item with quality construction and is original throughout. They are an extremely useful piece of furniture and a great asset to have in any living or dining room or hallway, as th...
