Description

An early 20th Century Austrian cold painted bronze bedside light in the Art Deco style with an angular shaped inset glass panel. The female nude figure kneels on a square rug carved on the integral stained wood base with on/off switch. It runs on a battery and this type is still available today and can be bought online. There has been a mend to the girls right hand which we only noticed during the photography process. It is hardly noticeable but price reflects this.
