Description

A good quality Piano Stool with an adjustable seat dating from the early 20th Century. The stool stands on four turned legs joined to a central turned support. The seat is upholstered in a pretty abstract pattern. It can be adjusted in height by spinning the seat around to move it up or down. At its lowest adjustable position it is approximately 18" (46cm) and at its highest adjustable position it is approximately 22" (56cm). It is in good condition for its age. The revolving mechanism runs smoothly with very minimal give side to side and when extended upwards the stool is very stable. The wood is free from any major knocks or splits and is overall a sturdy construction. There are some small marks and minor knocks but nothing detrimental. The upholstery is clean and tidy and displays well and is certainly a very usable piece. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask. Tracked UK delivery £30.
